

What will your inheritance conversation look like?

47%

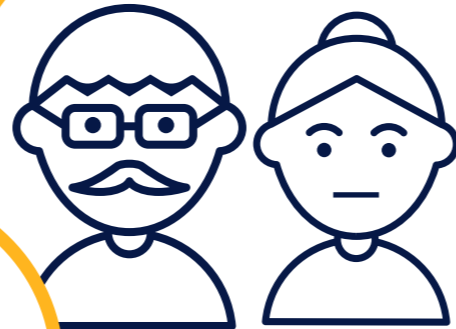

Almost half of UK adults say they have never discussed inheritance matters

A health scare, a near death experience and getting older would prompt me to discuss inheritance

10% of wealth will be passed on as 'living legacy'

25% of wealth will be passed on in a will

Only one in ten have discussed passing on belongings to loved ones while alive

1 in 4 haven't discussed inheritance matters because they think they're not old enough

65% of wealth will be needed to cover their 'cost of living'

1 in 10 avoid talking about inheritance because it's a morbid subject

A quarter of people want to leave younger family members something to remember them by

