Market Commentary

Global equity markets continued to rally in March, supported by strong economic data and expectations of rate cuts later in the year. US equities posted the strongest first quarter since 2019, while Japan's Nikkei 225 index and Europe's Stoxx 600 index broke fresh record highs in March. The rally in Q1 has been impressive, as traders have scaled back rate cut expectations in the US, pushing US ten-year treasury yields to a four-month high of 4.3%. It vindicates the idea that the equity rally is supported by fundamental strength in corporate earnings and that the economy is resilient despite tight monetary conditions. Indeed, we saw a few encouraging developments in March that are worth noting. First, the Citi global economic surprise indicator, which measures economic data relative to analysts' expectations, has reached a one-year high. Second, manufacturing business surveys in the UK, US and China are back to expansion, signalling a cyclical recovery in a sector that has been contracting for much of the past 18 to 24 months. Third, inflation is trending down. In particular, the eurozone consumer price index (CPI) has slowed to just 2.4% in March. This provides confidence that major developed economies' inflation will slow in a synchronised way, which will ultimately allow central banks to ease policy. Fourth, the Federal Reserve has continued to guide the markets for three rate cuts for 2024. Finally, the US equity rally has broadened out with cyclical sectors catching up with technology's gains in the first quarter.
